Grandparenting for Faith Sharing God with the children you love the most

Becky Sedgwick

Pb, ISBN 978 1 80039 204 5, £9.99

In this, our first title of 2024, Becky Sedgwick explores how grandparents can encourage and equip their grandchildren to meet and know God. Grandparenting brings new life and joy, and also a special opportunity to walk spiritually alongside your grandchildren, helping to nurture them into the reality of a relationship with the God who loves them.

Becky writes: 'I hope this book will serve as a handbook for Christian grandparents, which they can look through, mark up and return to as their grandparenting – and their grandchildren – change. My prayer is that it will help grandparents see that they are part of God's plan for their grandchildren's discipleship and give them tools and ideas and confidence to share all who God is for them with the children they love the most.'

Praise for Grandparenting for Faith

'A great guide to the wonderful if bewildering responsibilities of being a Christian grandparent. Realistic, supportive and, above all, both helpful and hopeful.' Revd Canon J. John, evangelist

'Grandparenting for Faith is a liberating, convicting and exciting work that has the potential to transform the lives of three generations: children, parents and grandparents. This book will empower grandparents in all types of family settings and dynamics to be part of their grandchildren's lives and share their faith without damaging relationships with their adult children.' Martha Flavell, children and family lead at Bible Society

'This book is a much-needed and timely resource to encourage and inspire grandparents in supporting the faith journey of their grandchild. In these times of significant pressures amongst families, limited family time, low confidence amongst grandparents, confusion about roles within families and limited availability of support for families, this book is a very welcome tool.' Sarah Holmes, researcher and lecturer, Liverpool Hope University
